

LORCA SMETANA - CELEBRANT

Some of the most important events of our life are the ones that we also have little experience in creating, whether it's beautifully joining two lives together, or saying goodbye to a loved one. I bring you grounding and structure, inspiration and serenity, allowing you to keep your focus on the reason you are there.

From the simplest through the most extravagant, I'll help you determine what is truly important, and then how all the pieces can come together with both grace and sanity. As a singer, writer, poet and the keeper of a great flock of white doves, I bring many beautiful elements into what you finally create.
